Alumni Meet

15th November, 2014- India Habitat Centre, New Delhi

“There is nothing like returning to a place that remains unchanged to find the ways in which you yourself have altered.“

- Nelson Mandela

We are pleased to share that the Apeejay Education Society has started its journey of reconnecting with its alumni and it has brought great pride and honour to us. True to the Apeejay motto - Soaring high, is my nature, our alumni have brought immense laurels and achievements to the Apeejay fraternity. We take each of these milestones as a pat on our backs and hope to gather and applaud them for their efforts.

Obviously, it has been a long time since you crossed the threshold of your alma mater and revisited its corridors. But in company of old mates, we can make up for that lost time and look for beautiful moments in the memory pool. With this in mind, we have planned ‘The Apeejay Alumni Event’ on 15th November 2014 at India Habitat Centre, 6:30 pm onwards and would be delighted to have you amongst us. The evening promises to be one of laughter, nostalgia, friendship and re-bonding.

Baroness Tessa Blackstone, Chairman, British Library, Former Minister for Education (UK) & International Advisor, Apeejay Stya University, would be gracing the occasion as Guest of Honour for an interaction with alumni.

As this is our maiden venture, we look to you for support by way of a small contribution of ₹3000 (admits two adults) or ₹1500 (single entry) for the event. It would be a gala affair with cultural events and performances, presence of old teachers, AVs showing glimpses of the good old days followed by a networking dinner and cocktails. We promise you a beautiful ride in the past and request your presence as we go about it.

We hope that you will support us in this venture and help make Apeejay Alumni soar even higher. Please find attached the details for money transfer and the registration form.

Kindly fill up the registration form and send it as an attachment along with an acknowledgment email stating that you have completed the necessary registration and payment procedure.

Look forward to your presence at the event
