

Glimpse of a fashion show held at AES golden jubilee celebration

Celebrating five decades in the field of quality education

Apeejay Education Society (AES) – a social commitment of the Apeejay Styra and Svrna Group – heralded the celebration of its golden jubilee year with a cultural extravaganza. The chief guest was NRI Industrialist Lord Swraj Paul, Baron Paul of Marylebone. It was presided over by Sushma Paul Berlia, Chairman, Apeejay Education Society and President, Apeejay Styra and Svrna Group.

AES has built a rich heritage of over five decades in the field of quality education through a family of 24 not-for-profit educational institutions, including Apeejay Styra University. All of their institutions have been instrumental in carrying forward the shared vision of 'man-making and nation-building education of global standards' of its Founder Chairman, Dr Styra Paul.

His legacy of excellence is being carried forward by his only child, Sushma Paul Berlia. Today the Apeejay family comprises about 40,000 students, 60,000 alumni, over 3000 faculty and state-of-the-art infrastructure that provide education from pre-nursery to doctoral level.

Sharing the five-decade-long journey of AES, Sushma Paul Berlia congratulated and thanked all members of the family and all those who have been associated with it, in the past or present, directly or indirectly, contributing in myriad ways towards the 50 years of the success story of the AES. "For us, the overarching mission has always been pursuit of excellence. Today let us make a commitment that while we cherish the glory of our 50 years, we will not rest on our laurels and we will continue to soar higher and higher," she said.

Lord Swraj Paul gave an emotional tribute to his elder brother and Founder Chairman of AES and said, "Dr Styra Paul was my mentor, father, brother and everything." He applauded the remarkable achievements of AES, the cultural programmes presented through dance, music and the display of talent.

Lord Swraj Paul, Sushma Paul Berlia, Chairman, Apeejay Education Society, Nishant Berlia and Dr Neha Berlia, members of management board, Apeejay Styra and Svrna Group